This year, like no other, the second Tuesday in May has become a date that Australians are awaiting with a touch of trepidation, a hope for salvation, and everything in between. With the present economic uncertainty, the Federal Budget 2009 will be a critical pronouncement on the country's economic management for the next 12 months and beyond.

All Governments around the globe will be challenged with their fiscal responsibilities. How our Government responds to the current economic climate, and the broader implications of the recent G20 meeting outcome, will determine many commercial and investment decisions.

Join BDO Kendalls' panel of experts to look behind the headlines to identify and interpret the budget issues and provide a practical commentary on the likely impact on your business and personal affairs.
